CENTERVILLE CHRONICLE

Official Newsletter of Centerville City, Utah

Mayors Message

Dear Residents:

As summer ended (with our wonderful Fourth of July celebration still fresh in our minds), we were fortunate to have the '9/11 Remembers' exhibit come to the Davis County Fairgrounds. My daughter and I did not expect to take 3 hours touring it, but it was an opportunity to remember and learn. A few weeks after the exhibit ended, I was at a luncheon where one of the Fire Captains from New York City, who was in the 110-story second tower when it came down, spoke to us. His story was a miracle! The rallying cry and the patriotism in the days shortly after the towers came down is something that we need to duplicate each day. Hence, events like '9/11 Remembers' help us do that.

Recently, I had the opportunity, along with some other City Council members and staff, to attend the annual Utah League of Cities and Towns (ULCT) meetings. During the sessions, my mind drifted to what makes a strong city. As I have discussed in the past essential utilities, educational opportunities, good parks, well-maintained streets, police and fire protection, etc., are all critical. It has often been said that you have everything if you have your health. A few days before the ULCT meetings, I was on a mountain ebike on the new trail between Mueller Park Canyon and North Canyon in Bountiful. This ride was with other City officials from our city and surrounding cities. I thank Councilman Summerhays for organizing the event. My challenge to each of us as residents of this great city of Centerville is to become an even healthier city than we presently are. It does not have to be mountain biking. It can be as simple as a walk regularly, or leg lifts in your home. Whatever your physical abilities allow. Combine this with proper nutritional habits, and I am confident that personal happiness and physical and mental well-being will increase substantially. Use your facilities or the facilities of the city. We have walking, hiking, and biking trails. We have recreation programs. We have parks with baseball diamonds, tracks, tennis courts, pickleball courts, volleyball courts, playground equipment, disc golf, open lawn areas, and many other features. I want to challenge each one of us to find at least one physical activity that we can find enjoyment in (video games do not count)! Within the city, we have added additional recreation opportunities for all ages. This past summer, we added a kickball league, corn hole tournaments, etc., and we hope we can increase participation as these activities go into their second year. Look at the city website for these events throughout the year. I hope to see each one of you participating. I welcome the opportunity to join you; email me at mayor@centervilleutah.com and let me know what you are doing. Let's make 2023 our healthiest year ever!

Lastly, thank you from the bottom of our hearts for your tremendous participation in gathering supplies for the firefighters on the Fourth of July. We were disappointed with the parade cancellation, but you all responded with incredible charity, service, and love!

Sincerely, Mayor Clark Wilkinson, Janie and Family
